1. Every answer cites a page. Here's how to check it in thirty seconds, before you rely on it.

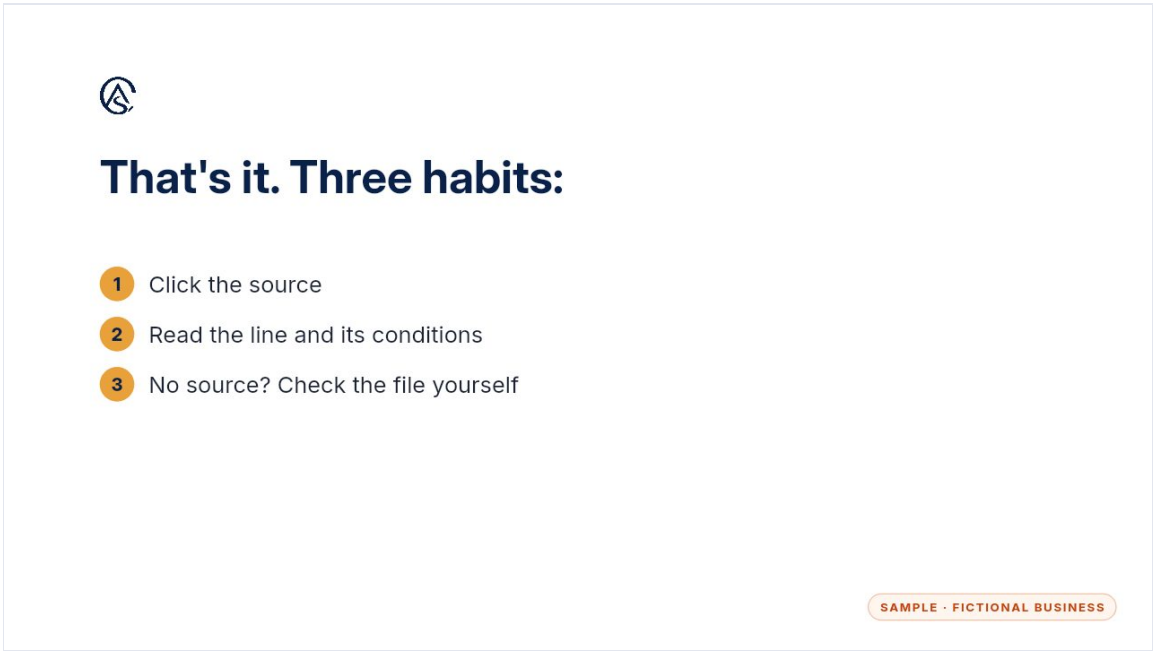

2 Click the source under the answer. It opens the document at the page it quoted.

3 Read the line it quoted, and any condition next to it. Here, registration within sixty days matters, and a short answer can leave that out.

4 When the answer isn't in your documents, it says so, instead of guessing. That's your cue to check the job file yourself.

5 Click, read, and when there's no source, check the file yourself.
